

Hacker's Creek Journal

Volume 29
2010-2011

The Hacker's Creek Pioneer Descendants organization began in 1982. HCPD works closely with other genealogy and historical societies throughout the state of West Virginia, especially those in places to or from which great numbers of our pioneering families migrated.

The mission of the Hacker's Creek Pioneer Descendants, Inc. shall be to conserve, preserve, protect, display and make available the history, culture, and artifacts of the Central West Virginia area to anyone interested in their own personal history (and their family history) or culture and history of the region.

The Hacker's Creek Journal contains stories written and gathered by members of the organization. It is a great resource for members and non-members alike.

Although the numbering of the Journal was noted in Roman Numerals for many years, there has been an interest in presenting it in a more streamlined way in the past few years. That is reflected in the naming of each of the volumes included on the Internet Archive.
